Please, sir, I want some more.

-Charles Dickens

NOW, ALL Y'ALL OUT THERE ARE PROBABLY WONDERING - "HEY! KARL JATE IS JUST A CARTOONIST! HOW COME HE'S SUDDENLY THE DESIGN EDITOR OF THE YEAR - BOOK?!" WELL, IF ANYBODY'S INTERESTED, HERE'S THE WHOLE GORDID STORY!

IT ALL BEGAN IN THE FALL OF 1982!

DIANA GARY, THEN THE COPY EDITOR OF THE GUMBO, ASKED ME TO DO SECTION DIVISIONS FOR THE BOOK!

UH..HI! I'M DIANA GARY, FROM THE GUMBO!

WE WERE WONDERING IF YOU WOULD BE INTERESTED IN DRAWING CARTOON SECTION DIVISION PAGES FOR US, THIS YEAR!

HUH?

I WAS JUST A REVELLE CARTOONIST AT THE TIME. THIS SEEMED TO BE A BIG PROJECT, AND IT WAS BUT AT LEAST I WAS PAID LOTS OF MONEY..

I HOPE THEY LIKE THESE!

LATER, WHEN I SHOWED THEM TO TRACEPOST, THE EDITOR:

HOW'S THIS?

GAWAD! THAT'S GREAT! WOW! GEE!

WELL, MY SECTION DIVISION PAGES WERE A BIG HIT! THEN, SOME-TIME LATER..

UH, HI! I'M DIANA GARY, AND I'M GONNA BE THE GUMBO EDITOR NEXT YEAR! WANNA BE ON THE STAFF?

HUH?

I WAS SKEPTICAL AT FIRST. I HAD NEVER BEEN ON A YEAR-BOOK BEFORE.. WASN'T IT DULL, BORING WORK?

OH, NO! WE'RE GOING TO DO A DIFFERENT KIND OF BOOK THIS TIME! LOTS OF PARODY AND STUFF! I WANT YOU TO HELP DESIGN IT!

BY GOLLY, IT SOUNDS LIKE A GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO DO SOMETHING NEW! AND BESIDES, IT'S A LOT OF MONEY! I'LL DO IT!

AND SO, I WAS HIRED DESIGN EDITOR! IT WAS A HUGE RESPONSIBILITY, BUT I LOOKED FORWARD TO THE TASK AHEAD AS A MIGHTY CHALLENGE WHICH I WOULD MASTER!

GOSH! MY OWN DESK!

DIANA TOLD ME ABOUT THE GREAT DREAMS SHE HAD FOR IMPROVING THE BOOK!

DIANA HAS HALLUCINATIONS ABOUT THE YEARBOOK!

I THINK ALL THE RECENT BOOKS LOOK THE SAME! I WANT TO DO SOMETHING DIFFERENT!

I AGREE! THE BOOK HAS BEEN ALL LATELY!

WHEN THE STAFF MET AS A GROUP, HOWEVER, IT BECAME OBVIOUS THAT SEVERAL STAFFERS DID NOT SHARE OUR ENTHUSIASM FOR REDESIGNING THE BOOK!

...AND I WANT TO DO SOMETHING DIFFERENT!

YOU CUT YOUR HAIR.

NEW? DIFFERENT?

(GUMBO STAFFER WHO WILL REMAIN NAMELESS)

WELL, WE WANT TO CUT OUT ALL THE DEAD, BORING STUFF...

AND REPLACE IT WITH MORE INTERESTING MATERIAL!

NEW? INTERESTING?

I THINK THE BOOK IS FINE THE WAY IT IS! I DON'T THINK YOU SHOULD CHANGE ANYTHING!

KARL JUST WANTS TO FILL UP THE BOOK WITH HIS CAR-TOONS!!

SADLY, WE COULD NOT CONVINCE THESE STAFFERS OF THE VALUE OF ORIGINAL THINKING! ULTIMATELY, DIANA AND I AND A STAFF OF DEDICATED VOLUNTEERS FINISHED THE BOOK WE WANTED TO DO!

THERE WERE THE INEVITABLE ARGUMENTS...

BUT DIANA RARELY PULLED RANK ON ME...

YOU CAN'T DO THAT! IT'S NOT GOOD DESIGN!

WHO CARES? I'M THE EDITOR!

YOU CAN'T DO THAT!

WHO CARES? I'M...

I'M... NOT VERY HAPPY ABOUT IT.

ANYWAY, WE KEPT ON WORKING, AND ULTIMATELY WE ASSEMBLED THE GUMBO!

IT WASN'T EASY, AND IF I HAD IT TO DO OVER AGAIN, I PROBABLY WOULDN'T. BUT I DID LEARN ONE IMPORTANT THING FROM MY EXPERIENCE!

EDITORS ARE REAL STUPID.

HEY!

THE real UNIVERSITY.

In various parts of a university, small groups of students, often inspired by faculty members, are discovering the excitement of learning and teaching knowledge of their fields of interest, their culture, and themselves.

In spite of university employees bound to regulations, fellow students still on their treadmill to graduation,

and even the conferrence of a degree,

this craving for learning continues to give meaning, purpose, and fulfillment in every endeavor, job, and career.

This is the real university.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The 1983 International Summer Special Olympic Games was held at LSU in July. An estimated 60,000 people crammed into Tiger Stadium for the opening ceremonies, welcoming 4,300 special athletes from 75 delegations around the world.

The games, including basketball, soccer, gymnastics, and field events, were scattered at various locations around the campus. And in keeping with the Special Olympics credo, there were no losers, only winners. Athletes walked away, some ran and jumped in joy, from their events almost unanimously wearing a smile, a grin. Volunteers and coaches greeted them with hugs and smiles and worlds of encouragement.

Celebrities mingled with the athletes, giving encouragement to the Special Olympians. Among the celebrities posing for pictures and signing autographs were film stars Susan Saint James and Beau Bridges, sports figures Arnold Schwarzenager, Rafer Johnson, John Nabor, Randy Gardner, and Tai Babalonia, television's Dick Sargent and Matthew Laborteaux, and columnist Art Buchwald.

Olympic Town, an area of 35 tents and booths, was a place where the athletes could relax. Two tents were filled with video games. Several corporations provided refreshments such as soft drinks and ice cream. The Louisiana National Guard provided "water buffaloes" — large mobile water containers — that provided water for the athletes to drink.

The emergency medical stations were busy battling the effects of 90 degree-plus heat.

"Basically, the heat-related illnesses haven't been too bad; mostly heat cramps and heat exhaustion," said Dr. Guy Sommers. "Dizziness, headaches, nausea, and heat exhaustion are what we usually treat, and most respond to a cool place and a wet towel."

Not all injuries were caused by the heat and humidity. Many were the result of strenuous competition.

But neither the heat of battle nor minor injuries nor the ever present Louisiana humidity could deter Olympians determined to bring home another medal for their collection.

Ron Hutter, a special athlete from Aurora, Colorado, said he liked Baton Rouge "except for the humidity."

His mother, Sheryl, was animated about her son's achievements. "We've been involved with the Olympics since 1976," she said. "He's worked very hard."

Shrugging off his mother's accolades, Hutter said, "Mom, I'm being interviewed," as he embarrassedly pushed her away.

Ronald McDonald told a story about getting off an airplane in Baton Rouge and as the passengers learned that many on the plane were Special Olympians they spontaneously broke out in applause. He said this has been a moving experience for him and that the kids and the people of Baton Rouge should be proud of themselves.

Rudolph Richardson, a special athlete from Wilson, North Carolina, was a patient with a sprained ankle.

"I sprained it playing basketball yesterday, but I'm going to be in the run, dribble, and shoot (competition) today anyway," he said.

The competition was so great at times, that tempers flared. A game of soccer between Louisiana and the United Kingdom was marred by the expulsion of two players and several injuries as the game went into overtime.

Nancy McIntyre, of radio station KLSU, said, "My heart was in my throat while watching these kids perform."

"These kids have a capacity for genuine, innocent love that the average person doesn't seem to have," Liza Cauldwell, a senior in Art History and volunteer to the Olympics, said, "To see how alive and well the Olympians are makes you want to get up and do something more than you've been doing in the past."

Perhaps the quote that best summed it up came from 16 year old Gigi Skarbait of New Jersey, who won a bronze medal in free exercise.

"I love the Special Olympics," she said. "I'm not going home . . . I'm staying forever."

Open admissions to end in 1988

By JAMES H. WILSON

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS voted Tuesday to end open admissions at Louisiana State University by 1988.

The board's decision was a landmark one, as it marked the end of a policy that had allowed anyone to enroll in the university.

The board's decision was based on a study that showed that open admissions was costing the university a great deal of money.

The board's decision was also based on the fact that open admissions was leading to a decline in the quality of the university's education.

BECOMES

LSU's radio station received a new name, frequency, and transmitter in 1983.

KLSU became the official call letters on May 31, replacing WPRG.

"We wanted WLSU, but we were informed those letters were already taken," explained Paul Burt, station engineer and promotions director. "Wisconsin LaCrosse State University, hence another LSU in the world."

The Federal Communications Commission has a rule that all stations east of the Mississippi River begin their call letters with 'W' and all those on the west begin with 'K'. So Jules d'Hemecourt, general manager of KLSU, presented the FCC with arguments to approve a waiver and be able to use 'K' rather than 'W'.

"I pointed out that our signal would largely fall on the other side of the river so it was reasonable to be able to have 'K'," d'Hemecourt said. "I also pointed out that the FCC had waived other stations. But, one major regulation of the FCC is for the station to pick call letters that are unique and will provide minimum confusion, and we are doing just that."

"It makes sense," Burt claimed. "We are Louisiana State University, so KLSU would indeed provide minimum confusion. We are always getting confused with WBRZ which is channel 2 or WBRH and there are definitely no high school students working here."

On October 24, KLSU went up in wattage and down the dial. The station's new home on the radio dial is 91.1 FM, with a power increase to 5,000 watts.

The new transmitter meant a big jump in coverage area — from 2 to 20 miles — and increased its target audience of 18-34 years olds to 170,000.

KLSU remained an alternative station, with a progressive rock and jazz format.

The idea of the LSU MD Marathon first came to Keith Sliman, an LSU student, in the shower at the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house twelve years ago. He suggested a local variation on the famous Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day telethon. For five days, 24-hours a day, student organizations would play flag football on the parade grounds, and pay to do it. Today, these games are the main event of the LSU MD Marathon.

This year's marathon, which took place September 25 through October 1, 1983 was the site of filming for the Muscular Dystrophy Youth Film to be shown in Las Vegas for the national convention. In one week, the 25 organizations who participated raised $42,800, the third largest donation from any university.

LSU is the only university to act out Sliman's wild idea of all-day, all-night football playing. Nancy Furtell, Panhellenic Committee Chairman, attributes the great success of the LSU MD Marathon to Sliman's football marathon idea. She feels we have the ideal facilities for such an event with such a football oriented student body, a strong greek system, and the many willing volunteers for the cause. The participation in football, pole-sitting, see-saw contest, bike race, family feud, golf, and the air band contest was greater this year than ever before.

Just Some Thoughts

It has come to our attention that the current war with Libya is a very important and newsworthy event. Like abortion, premarital sex, contraception, AIDS, and the production of harmful nerve gas, it is a situation that merits genuine concern on the part of the Reveille staff and others. It is a situation one could possibly call problematic. On the one hand, there is the value of our armed forces, on the other, we must ask, "What is the price of Life?" and "Where can it be purchased at a discount?" As you can see, this situation is one of some importance. Whatever comes of this, one could probably suggest that the current Libyan police action will serve to move people, citizens like you or me, to come to some sort of an opinion, whether it be pro or con, on the entire situation.

We will do our best to present all views without slighting any one person, group, idea, or series of activities in particular. The Reveille stands by this position.

The LSU campus is our home. We ought to keep it clean. It also wouldn't hurt if we just didn't drop the litter in the first place, except, of course, in a trash container!

Well, it's that time of year again. We've all been waiting for it, and now we can all give a collective sigh of communal relief. Yes, it's here, and we don't have to worry about you-know-what anymore -- at least until next time!

It seems to me that if you stick a pencil up your nose, you probably deserve to feel some nasal pain. At least that's the way it seems with regard to the nuclear arms race. Like the old wife's tale sayeth: "Can it be any simpler than this?" The Reveille stands by this position. And please, keep our kampus klean, especially at this special time of year.

Dear REVEILLE

REVEILLE Readers Write In

Platters Repents

Editor:

I am going to write this letter about what I feel is a very important issue that is relevant and significant -- nay -- necessary for all LSU students here on and off campus to know. It is this: I resent the way the Reveille staff constantly seems to be misrepresenting what I say in the paper. Last week at Free Speech alley I spoke at length on abortion, gun control, the communist threat and my own personal acceptance of Jesus Christ as my saviour. How can you do this to me? All you had about my speech was: (and I "quote,"): "Mickey Platters spoke out on many issues he described as 'important enough to die for.' 'Who do you think you are, anyway?' said Platters to a heckler."

That's it! Is that what you call gernalism? I for one am never going to read your fifth-rate rag again. And as for my extremely important and essential message, if you want it you can just come by Free Speech Alley and hear it yourself. I can't believe this. I really can't.

Jerk Writes In

Editor:

I would like to take exception to the sickening, stupid, and redundantly unfunny humorless boring dumb stupid and unfunny editorial cartoons that you actually have the gall to print in this pig's skin of a paper. Where do you get your cartoonists from -- the Third Grade?? (ha ha). I throw up every time I pick up your paper. Why do you print it? Just tell me why do you print the damn thing? Is it supposed to be some kind of JOKE? (ha ha).

And another thing -- Your editorial cartoons really stink. You guys -- all of ya'll -- make me have to put on new blue jeans in the middle of every day because I will have done something to soil them out of sheer outrage at your stupid, illiterate, acinine, stupid, stupid paper. Get stuffed. Get out of here. I'm vomiting on this typewriter right now just knowing that this is going to be printed in your really stupid paper. What are you guys -- just DUMB or Watt (Ha, Ha, ha.)

I asked who the frogs were, who owned these bayonets, and when. Rippley continued: "It's always like this. You just gotta take the good with the bad. Practice makes perfect. We can't all be perfect. Easy come easy go." I could not help but insist

Coorection

In regards to Thursday's story on the "Save the Whale" campaign in Louisiana, it was incorrectly reported that 500,000 protesters stormed the Exxon refineries in Baton Rouge. It has come to our attention that there may not be more than one Exxon refinery in Baton Rouge, if that many. The article should have used the singular form of the noun. We regrets any inconvenience this may have cause.

Correction

In regards to the "Correction" notice on page two, it has come to our attention that the 500,000 protesters were actually protesting the U.S. planned deployment of Pershing 2s in West Germany, and in fact the number was closer to 100,000, and also, it took place in Bonn, West Germany, not Baton Rouge, as was earlier reported. We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.

CHANCELLOR NOT GUILTY Misleading New Report Reveals Frameup

By Rod Wickenlooper
Reporter

Students who frequent Baton Rouge courtrooms may have noticed a dapper young attorney at law who always carries a toolbox and sometimes wears overalls into court. "Just a maintenance man," they probably admit to themselves. Well, yes, in a way, perhaps he is, though he's probably there to represent someone in a seamy divorce case.

He's Adolph J. "Bob" Wickenlooper, Jr., a lawyer and owner of one of Tigertown's only fix-it shops.

"I got the idea when I was studying to be a chiropractor," Wickenlooper admits.

"At the time, I thought I was going to be what is known in the business as an 'ambulance chaser' and while I was tending to somebody's back after a wreck, I could also be working on the legal end of the case.

"But then I decided I'd rather do some other kind of law specialty, and I thought, 'Hey, some guy could come in her and ask me to handle his divorce case, and get me to fix his toaster at the same time," Wickenlooper admits.

The plan worked. Wickenlooper enrolled in the "Fix-it Mail Order Academy of America, Inc." after he saw the address on the inside of a match book. Now, when the divorce business gets slow, he can go to the back of his Chimes Street practice and take apart a client's blender or microwave oven.

"I guess I'm sort of unusual in that I'm one of the few lawyers in town who actually solicits customers. I do phone work, you know, calling up people and asking them if they have any small appliances that need fixing. If they say 'No,' then I ask them if they have a marriage that needs fixing," he admits.

Wickenlooper also makes sure that his card is prominently displayed in singles bars, on the theory that a distraught husband or wife may be going to bar to "drink their marital troubles away." That part of the business is handled by his only brother, Rod,

19, who is majoring in journalism at the university. "I just put his card next to ashtrays," Rod admits. "They go pretty quickly, though sometimes I see guys writing down phone numbers of women they've just picked up. That's not what they're for, they're for people who need serious legal help in their marriage."

The combination lawyer/non-practicing chiropractor/repair man fascinates other people in the University community. Trudy Bellops, who "goes out" with one of Wickenlooper's siblings, explains why: "Well, I'm not married, of course, and they don't like us to have more than hair dryers and stuff like that in the dorm, and mine's new anyway, so it doesn't ever break. But if someone were to ask me to get married — and I hope they do — and we moved into a house of our own, and then we get divorced, then it would be good to have an ex-brother-in-law who could fix my

Thursday the twelfth was the fifteenth meeting of the LSU Union's Ideas and Issues committee's unique lecture series, Coffee 2051. Halloween 3

By Pananda Zbat

Halloween 111, was a very, interesting, film. It was about this man, whose really a "reincarnation" of this druidic Spirit! The main character is a man who, accidentally, finds out, about the bad man. He is having this factory; where he makes the whole town work, make these really good-looking Halloween masks. Then he falls in love with this lady, who turns out, is a robot. It's good. Then the good guy goes to rescue the lady and he gets caught too. Then they break out and have the bad man die with the machine. But still it's too late cause the trick-or-treaters are all wearing the masks and when the TV commercial for "Silver Shamrock" comes on, the masks all destruct into snakes and that's really the scary part the ending when we saw this TV screen come on it is frightening.

Das Boot

By Kris Krismadn
Reveille Film Critic

Once in a very few years a motion picture with torpedoes of talent surfaces out of the Nazi-infested seas of the motion picture market. It is a film of great depth, and yet it still harbours the aquatic potential to rise above the murky undersea of mediocrity and hunt for, sight, and finally, destroy the enemy battleship of boredom which so often is christened by a bottle of champagne labelled "Vin D'America" held by a woman wearing a Halston dress, which symbolizes the lust for big megabucks over art. That film, dear filmgoers, is Das Boot.

To begin with, one would have to pay admission. Next, comes the line, the concessions stand (none of which are prevalent abroad), the chair, the screen, and perhaps, the warm hand of your date, beau or belle, or (as the French would have it, La (See La BELLE, page 5)

CROSSWORD

By Joseph Thomson

"It's just American TV. It doesn't have to be perfect."

The Resurrection Of DAVID LETTERMAN

On Monday September 12 1983, at 11:30pm, LSU student Mark Calvit tuned in Baton Rouge TV station WBRT-33. He expected to hear the upbeat rythm of the World's Most Dangerous Band. Instead, he found the nasal whine of Jean Stapleton. "All in the Family" was on; "Late Night With David Letterman" was off.

When Calvit recovered from the shock, he decided to fight back. He wrote a scathing letter to the "Reveille" urging concerned students to write to Channel 33. He contacted fellow "Letterman" fans Danny Burke and Steven "Yes, I've Seen Him In Person" Stewart, and together they formed the "Save Dave Committee".

The Committee's first act was to set up a petition table in front of the LSU Union. There they met fan Mark Pfister, who promised the group access to videotape equipment that they could use to film a statement to send to the show. Pfister became the fourth "Save Dave" member.

Armed with 3500 signatures, the little band was prepared to take on a TV station. WBRT owner Cyril Vetter met the group with a few demands of his own. In exchange for his help in getting Letterman back, Vetter wanted to be allowed to sit in on the show's band (on drums), he wanted his brother's pet dogs to be allowed to perform their "attack the Weedeater" trick on the "stupid pet trick" segment, and he demanded that Letterman do a crawfish etouffe promotion.

The Committee counter-offered to let the two dogs play bongos in the band and let Vetter tune an electric edger on the program. No deal.

At a press conference called in front of LSU's Memorial Tower, Calvit told listeners and members of the press that he and the other Save Davers would vow to finish the semester with a "C" average (that was easy - adding their GPA's together came to about a 2.1) and they would all officially change their names to "Dave" in return for the safe return of their favorite show.

Finally, on the tenth day A.D. (after Dave), Vetter conceded. "Late Night With David Letterman" would return to its regular time slot Monday, September 26. Louisiana Secretary of State Jim Brown, also a Letterman fan, would declare it "David Letterman Day" with an official proclamation. National

OFFICIAL STUDENT ID CARD
Must be carried by student everywhere and at all times, even in the shower. Must be surrendered upon demand by any University Official, for any reason whatsoever. Failure or refusal to do so, for any reason (including unconsciousness) will result in immediate strip search on the spot to determine identity, and possible arrest and incarceration in a Federal institution. Misuse by holders, or others, even without the holder's knowledge, will result in immediate strip search and possible arrest. Lost or stolen cards must be reported to the Office of Student Records, and may result in immediate strip search to prove identity. Replacement charge $560.00. Failure to report lost or stolen card is a Federal offense, punishable by up to 90 years in a maximum-security prison, and may result in loss of citizenship. Giving this card to your underage little brother so he can get into bars and/or buy pornographic materials is permitted, as long as we don't find out about it.

Of the 175 or so buildings on campus, do you know which ones are officially designated Civil Defense Fallout Shelters? Do you know, at all times during the day, where the nearest Fallout Shelter is? Well, we at the Gumbo have done all the worrying for you. Here is the official LSU "Tiger" Fallout Shelter Plaque. Just cut it out and paste it on the nearest wall, and you're perfectly safe from nuclear attack. Carry it with you all the time and you're always safe!

David Zietz

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

David Zieta

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the international premedical honor society, was founded in 1926 and presently has chapters throughout the U.S. and Canada. Most members of AED are preparing for careers in medicine, dentistry, and other allied health professions.

The Louisiana Beta Chapter at LSU is currently the largest chapter of AED in the United States, incorporating over 200 active members.

Besides recognizing academic excellence, AED also encourages its members to be actively involved in its social and service programs.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

David Zeitz

Alpha Phi Omega is a co-educational national service fraternity originally chartered in 1932. The Alpha Epsilon chapter on LSU's campus was rechartered in February of 1980. Alpha Phi Omega is based on the principles of the Boy Scouts of America and its motto, "Be a Leader, Be a Friend, Be of Service." Alpha Phi Omega provides service in the areas of nation, community, campus, and fraternity.

The closeknit brotherhood of LSU's Alpha Epsilon chapter stems from its ability to combine service projects with social activities, while the main objective of Alpha Phi Omega remains to serve mankind.

AMERICAN ADVERTISING FEDERATION

Joe Travis

In addition, ASME provides students with the opportunity to begin their careers by joining a professional engineering society.

ASME helps keep students aware of recent developments in the mechanical engineering field through publications and other activities. Students are given the chance to meet with representatives from industry at meetings.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

Joe Travis

The L. S. U. Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers is a student group which is a part of the larger organization of practicing engineers. The society which was founded in 1852 is the oldest of the professional engineering societies.

The organization not only fosters professionalism among its members but also offers the students the benefits of affiliation with other students and faculty in this field.

The group is also responsible for engineering numerous festivities throughout the year. These include construction of, and competition with, a concrete canoe, participation in state and regional conventions, and frequent keg parties.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERIOR DESIGNERS

Joe Travis

The American Society of Interior Designers is an organization composed of educated professionals and interior design students uniquely qualified to solve the complex problems of the interior environment.

The student chapter of ASID is geared toward preparing I. D. students for the many design challenges which they face upon graduation. ASID/SC also presents Interior Design students at L. S. U. with the opportunity to get to know one another and have a great time while learning to help others and expand their knowledge of interior design. Fellowship with students in related curriculums such as Architecture, Landscape Architecture, Graphic Design, and Fine Arts is encouraged through ASID/SC.

COLLEGIATE 4-H

Stig Bockman Pedersen

Collegiate 4-H Clubs began as early as the 1920's, because 4-H members attending college wanted to continue in 4-H. Formation of the national organization began in April of 1974. The organization has continued to grow since that time, and members are now from all corners of the United States.

The purpose is to promote, maintain, and increase interest in 4-H at local through international levels, to function as a service-oriented organization, and to promote fellowship through social and leadership events for students with common interests.

SCOTCH GUARD

David Zeitz

Scotch Guard is an honorary women's organization sponsored by the Army ROTC. As the official hostess of the University, the Guard ushers Union and Assembly Center events, welcomes distinguished guests of the University, and greets visiting football teams at the airport. The Guard also acts as a support group for the Army and as a service to the community. We attend the Military Ball and Corps Field Day, and do special projects for such organizations as the Baton Rouge Crisis Center and Special Olympics.

Membership in the Guard is based on leadership, scholarship, and character. It is a distinct privilege, for it offers the opportunity to serve.

ASPIRING POETS OF LSU

Aspiring Poets of LSU

From Keats to Coleridge, Ginsberg to Ashbery, the Aspiring Poets of LSU boasts an insatiable lust for letters. LSU's chapter has earned the nickname of "page hog of the little magazines" for the many fine poems and scholarly articles published quarterly by its healthy membership. Members gather twice weekly for poetry readings in the Greek Theater, often to overflow crowds. Other popular events are workshops on style and diction, held weekly in the Assembly Center, and monthly seminars on selected poets. The climax of the poetry season is the sensational three-day marathon reading held annually in Tiger Stadium. Above, local poet Deborah Salazar reads a selection from Sylvia Plath's Ariel as excited Plath fans cheer her on.

Editor

The 1984 GUMBO is meant for fun. Have fun with it.

When I first became Editor, the first thing I had to decide was how to treat the book. Was it a piece of history? Journalism? Entertainment? Or just another yearbook, indistinguishable from any other yearbook?

I decided to make the GUMBO entertaining, put some fun into it. You may or may not agree with my approach to the GUMBO, but I felt that it was worth it to try something different this year.

Fortunately, I had the support and help of several qualified people:

First there was Karl, I couldn't have accomplished anything without him. His enthusiasm and ingenuity really made the book what it is. Through the long hours and troubles we had our fair share of disagreements but came through the year as close friends. He truly went above and beyond the call of duty.

Then there was David Saia, who joined us in mid-stream. He really helped us out when we needed him and never complained about any of the stupid things we made him do. His creative input and copy were indispensable. And last but not least, Joseph. He put up with me when things were not going right and I took everything out on him. He was always there when I needed him and helped any way he could. It's very hard to be married to a GUMBO editor.

Don't worry, it doesn't have to be perfect. It's only the LSU GUMBO.

Special Thanks to:

Dr. Newton, LSU Department of Geology, for Maps.
Mr. Hymel at the local A&P for allowing us to take our cover photograph there, and for permission to use the A&P symbology.
Mike Konvicka for all the typesetting, copy, and all the other help.
Scott Smith for all the help with layouts, and working till all hours of the night and day.
Jim Zietz and Prather Warren of LSU Public Relations for the photographs.
Bill Feig of the Morning Advocate for photographs.
Ron Berard of the LSU Athletic Department for photographs.
Writers and Photographers at the Daily Reveille for stories and photos.
Billy Carroll, for helping on with the demographics.
John Newman for providing the Dalek.

The 1984 LSU GUMBO was printed by Josten's American Yearbook Company, Topeka, Kansas. The majority of the headlines and body copy was set in Stymie and Stymie Bold. Headlines on the division pages were set in American Typewriter Bold. The pages were printed on dull paper stock. The cover is a 4 color photograph done in a litho process. The press run for the 1984 GUMBO was 13,000.

At right, life at the GUMBO over the past year as seen by Karl Tate - to help keep me amused through all we had to put up with.
